Sports and Entertainment Journalist

ABOUT KARINTHA

Veteran sports and entertainment journalist Karintha holds court at the intersection of sports and pop culture. Currently, she hosts Week In Sports and Styles & Kaikai with Elizabeth Kaikai. You can find the Detroit native's work on numerous media outlets, including Fox Sports, Yahoo Sports, BET, iHeart Media, and Hoops Habit. Karintha spends her downtime painting, cooking, spoiling her niece, and cheering on one of her favorite teams. It's not uncommon to find this Gen Xer dancing, singing, or rummaging through her desk looking for Now or Later. While attending Howard University, she became the first female Sports Editor of The Hilltop.

Holy Hip Hop discussed the sound of Em N.I.C.E.'s debut Gospel Album after the started climbing the charts after its release. "With a voice that commands your attention from the first note, hip-hop recording artist EMCEE N.I.C.E. from El Paso, Texas made his arrival into the Gospel Hip-Hop genre. N.I.C.E. has accumulated numerous accolades including over 30+ professional recordings, platinum and gold awards, Billboard Charts, TV shows and an association with an Academy award. As he forges a trail in the realm of Gospel, delivering perspective with his debut album 'Praise' is insightful and each record speaks to weary and devote believers that worship all the time. It's also generational. Randy Robinson discussed how the inspirational gives everyone in her family peace.
